After 43 Years Service Lodge Closes Books

Ladies of the Italian Society, Coleman, had their final meeting on Sunday, December 12. It was decided at this meeting that due to lack of membership and so many members have since deceased, that it was unfair to the same few left to carry out the duties expected.

The lodge was founded in Coleman, July 1928 and has since carried out many interesting duties. There were many good times and many sad times, card parties, dances, banquets etc.

Following their Christmas party, it was decided, with much regret to close their books after an era of 43 years.

The picture is of the members whom started this lodge.

Memorial Services Held In Coleman

A joint Memorial Service was held on Sunday, December 5 at 2:00 p.m. in the Elk's Hall, Coleman, for the departed brothers and Sisters of the Coleman Elks No. 117 and the O.O.R.P. N. 96.

The O.I.R.P. Drill Team exemplifies the Cross and soloist Helen Kropinak sang "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," accompanied by Isabelle Spevak on the piano.

The lunch committee served a lovely lunch.

The public was invited to attend these services and both lodges would really appreciate a better participation of both members and visitors, as this is a very beautiful and touching ceremony.

Editorially SPEAKING

An Act Of Conscience

An elementary school teacher at Creston, B.C., has returned $1,000 of her $11,222 gross annual salary to the local school board because she felt she was overpaid by that amount.

It was a small victory for individualism in a part of society where the individual may be a creature of rigid organization. Teachers long ago surrendered control over conditions of their employment to professional associations that behave remarkably like trade unions.

The teacher's action was also a kind of victory for professionalism. Like other professionals, the teacher decided for herself what she was prepared to accept for her services.

She didn't take the course she did without firstly trying unsuccessfully to convince the executive and membership of the B.C. Teachers' Federation that "unbridled salary demands undercut our public image and outpace teachers in a community such as Creston."

This plea for reason probably would not have been heard had the federation still retained what amounted to closed-shop powers. The B.C. Public Schools Act, in a blow for individual freedom, has been amended to make membership in the teachers' federation voluntary rather than mandatory. The happy result is well worth keeping in mind in Alberta.

THE MAYOR'S CORNER

M. Cornet, representative of the C.N.P. Hospital Board was present to enlighten the council on the formation of a new ambulance company to be responsible for an ambulance service in the Crownsnest Pass. This company consists of representatives from the towns, I.D. Districts and Hospital Board. They will be in charge of operating the service. There will be 24 hour continuous service and the ambulance will be kept at the hospital where a garage has already been built for it.

Council approved and Mr. Cornet has been appointed as one of the directors of the ambulance company.

Mr. Kuffinoff attended the meeting and inquired if the town had a by-law that limits the number of taxis operating on a per capita basis. He was informed that there was no such by-law and licenses were not limited in opening new business in the town.

Mr. Al Krywolt represented a client who wanted to open new taxi business here. He also wanted to know "How soon will the town begin on their new development in the sub-division, as there were several people interested in building new homes there."

Miss Bonnie Porter, Regional Recreation Director was present to submit her budget for the coming year. Council contributed $1,519.74 to the recreational board in 1971. After reading the budget it was decided to discuss it at the next meeting. They would like to get information on the salaries of other regional directors in other areas with the same population as Coleman, so that they would know if the salary proposed for 1972 was in line with salaries elsewhere.

The proposed salary of the regional director is $8,100.00, car allowance is $900.00, and car mileage and meeting expenses of $250.00 is proposed for the year. The recreational board requested a financial statement from the sports association before they would approve of the recreational grant from the government, which was to be used for the re-wiring and some of the repairs to the ice arena.

Council informed Miss Porter that the sports association only operates the arena, but the town is responsible for the maintenance of the building.

In regard to the TV station a meeting was held and now a board of directors will have to be formed of the cost and operation of this station.

Irwin Adderley, and Ted Nicholson of the Old Man Regional Planning Commission were present and gave a very informative talk on how this commission helps to plan and future development in our area. They are responsible for planning in the area from Nanaimo to Montana border and from Taber to the B.C. border. They have a large staff of qualified engineers and consultants, who do the studying of any project and then their study is recommended to the towns.

At this time Coleman would like them to submit a brief on a new sub-division they would like to develop in 1972. Council would also like the planning commission to approach Calgary Power regarding power lines that are right in front of the proposed new sub-division. Mr. Adderley outlined the work that O.R.P.C. does and it was very educational for the new members of the council, who certainly appreciated their help.

Mayor John Holby was re-appointed chairman of the Chinook Health Unit for 1972.

The meeting of December 14 was taken up entirely by delegates, therefore the agenda was postponed to December 18 when a special meeting was held.

Coleman invites the public to come and see their beautiful Christmas display in the park and reminds them not to forget the judging of the most decorative homes which will be held on December 27 from 7 to 9 p.m.

Mr. John Mercer, President of Junior Forest Wardens, Mr. W. Burrows, treasurer of this organization, Gary Flafilo, president of Junior Forest Wardens. Council were present to explain their desire to number streets and avenues which will be a big and worthwhile undertaking for the active group. The mayor congratulated them on taking over such a worthwhile project.

They will be given all the necessary materials for this and also would have to work in conjunction with the town foreman and therefore, plans would have to be prepared in advance so that signs would be put on the proper corners with specified size and length. This move will further contribute to the now progressive trend of this community.

Council received a letter from Dolos Developers stating they would begin construction on the shopping centre the first week in January.

A letter was read from Gino Quinn requesting to purchase two lots to build a sixplex. Council agreed on the sale of the lots.

Council gave approval for the right to canvass for the Heart Fund in the Town of Coleman.

Council has a policy of sending any of their employees to a school for water and sewer operation. John Oswald has previously attended this school and therefore will have the opportunity to do so again this year.

Town of Coleman will send a Christmas gift, same as in the past to the Senior Citizens formerly of Coleman who are now residing in the Crestview Lodge in Pincher Creek.

Fine Line Homes also requested the purchase of several lots some of which could be sold, but others would first have to be surveyed and registered. Council intends to give them full co-operation in order to have new homes built.

Darius Tuckwood will be appointed as dog-catcher in this town. Duties to begin at once. In regard to the report on local government, council felt that the mayor did not act in any irresponsible manner when he read the minutes from the local study group. He was supported by the entire council in the information given to the news media. Council expressed the fact that none of their views should be censored by their local government study group. The public is interested in this topic and should be informed.

A Christmas Message from the Mayor

I am privileged on behalf of the Coleman Town Council to bring season's greetings to the present and former residents of the Crownsnest Pass.

Christmas, is upon us and for the most of us is a happy and busy time of the year. This is a time of love and joy of giving and receiving of gifts and above all to celebrate the birthday of the Prince of Peace.

Time to renew old and established friendships and to make new friends, time to show our concern for those less fortunate. When it's ours, may we leave contentment and cherished memories.

As you enter into 1972 may the future be brightened and the feeling of good fellowship and the spirit of Christmas abide with you throughout the coming year.

MAYOR, JOHN HOLYMAN.

Mrs. Maurice Jones — Editor

It is so often said, "Christmas is They can hardly wait to rise and for Children" — yes, for children, and the young at heart. So, in the next few columns we will print tree; poems by some of the children of the district Elementary schools, expressing their thoughts on Christmas. Unfortunately, space will not permit publication of all the poetry submitted, however, we wish to thank every one of you for your fine efforts, with a special thanks to the teachers for your generous co-operation.

CHRISTMAS
Christmas trees are holly,
And Santa Claus is jolly,
And Christmas
Is holly and jolly.
—Bradley Mayer, Grade 2.

BELLS
The bells they ring so brightly,
They ring so jolly lightly,
Ding dong, ding dong,
The bells of Christmas ring.
They are so pretty, and they are so sweet,
How beautiful they sing!
—Michael R. (Sory, Michael, What is your surname and grade?).

CHRISTMAS POEM
Christmas comes but once a year,
And every Christmas brings good cheer,
Jingling bells and tinkling toys,
All shapes and sizes
For girls and boys.
It's time to be happy, and give to the needy,
Not a time to be selfish, thoughtless, or greedy.
So when those bells of Christmas ring,
And it's that time of the year,
Hang up your Christmas Stocking high,
And give that Christmas cheer.
—Fem Armstrong, Grade 7.

THE MEANING OF CHRISTMAS
Christmas is a time of joy,
To celebrate the birth of a boy,
His name was Christ, Son of the Lord.
His robes were white with a golden cord.
People came from near and far
Following the light of the Bethlehem star.
The message sent that night from the inn,
'Peace on earth, good will to men.'
—Lanis Shannon, Grade 5.

GETTING READY
Every year about this time,
My heart skips a beat,
The tree is up all decorated,
The house is tidy and neat;
Gifts are put here and there,
And wrapping paper, too;
Baking cookies fill the air,
Lights keep shining through;
Outside the snow looks soft and white,
The air feels fresh and clean.
And in our home the tree shines bright.
The prettiest one I've ever seen!
—Barb Brotzell, Grade 5.

CHRISTMAS
It's that time of the year once more,
Time to bake your cakes,
And clean your floors,
And hurry up for goodness sake!
It's Christmas time once more.
The snow is falling everywhere,
It's time to get our trees,
It's hush! hush! everywhere,
And listen to carols on Christmas eve;
It's Christmas time once more.
And when old Santa makes his trip
The children laugh with glee.

ABORTION DUE TO I.B.R. CAN BE PREVENTED

Frank Gattley, Chairman of the Alberta Cattle Commission, said recently in Calgary, "The vaccine currently on the market, used for the prevention of I.B.R. abortions, definitely is effective when administered properly."

Mr. Gattley was commenting on a project, now complete and supported by the Alberta Cattle Commission at the Western College of Veterinary Medicine in Saskatoon. This study was done by Dr. Olson and Dr. Radostits.

Heifers were bought, bred, only one-half were vaccinated against I.B.R. abortions. All heifers were then infected directly with the live I.B.R. virus at 3, 5 and 7 months of their pregnancy. 60 percent of the non-vaccinated heifers aborted while only one of the vaccinated heifers did. However, this abortion was in late pregnancy and was not attributed to I.B.R.

Another interesting side effect of the study showed that all cattle not vaccinated showed severe signs of the respiratory form of I.B.R. and required treatment. However, the vaccinated heifers only showed very mild signs of the respiratory disease.

Mr. Gattley concluded "Cattlemen should contact their own veterinarians and work with them to ward a proper vaccination program to prevent I.B.R. abortions."

Indicates Many Variables

The purpose of this report is to provide an early appraisal of the results of the 1971 hunting season in the East Kootenay. Information collected at the Kimberley and Cranbrook game checks are comparable between 1964 and 1971 and are used as the basis for the estimates of hunter effort and wildlife harvests. More precise estimates are provided in the annual Hunter Sample and more detailed data are tabulated in the annual game check report.

Weather

Weather conditions were ideal for hunting throughout September and October, providing excellent hunting conditions at all elevations. The sudden severe snow storms of late October and early November resulted in early migration of deer and elk to the winter ranges and greatly enhanced hunter opportunity.

Results and Discussion

Total big game hunters and hunter effort (hunter days) checked were lower than for any year during the 1964 to 1971 period. It appears that years of high success (e.g. 1949) are followed by increased hunter activity while years of low success (e.g. 1969) are followed by a decline in hunter interests. From this, it may be concluded that the decline in hunters checked in 1971 resulted from the poor hunting conditions which prevailed in 1969 and 1970. Following this reasoning, information presented below will show that a marked increase in hunters should be expected in 1972.

In 1964 there were 14,111 hunters for 21,554 hunter days; in 1971 there were 6,889 hunters for 10,172 hunter days.

Letters to the Editor

The Editor,
The Journal,
Coleman, Alberta.

Dear Sir:

On behalf of the Alberta Division of The Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society, I would very much like to thank you and your newspaper for the generous contribution of public service coverage given to C.A.R.S.

It is important that the general public and patients be provided with factual information. The Society believes that knowing the facts about arthritis is important in helping people to help themselves. We know this cannot be accomplished without the assistance of the newspaper media.

Thank you again for your donation, for your co-operation and interest in the Society. We hope C.A.R.S. will continue to merit this type of support.

With kind regards,
Yours sincerely,
Mrs. Barbara Carey,
Information and Campaign Director.

Bill Finds Out About A Rip-Off

Do you have difficulty in communicating with young people? Don't worry. We all do.

I have two of my own, and I teach the cribs every day, in deers, and I have trouble.

I've come to the conclusion that it's not our fault, it's theirs. We just can't keep up with their ever-changing slang.

For years I thought a hang-up was something I'd had during the war. It was what we called the rather delicate situation created when one of your bombs was caught by the tail and hanging nose-down, fused, refused to drop.

I had to land with one of these babies dangling there, one day. One bounce on landing and the aircraft and yours truly went to glory. As you can see, I landed like a feather on a snowbank, but it was a little disconcerting to see everyone on the air-strip flat on his face as I was coming in.

Now I realize that I had two hang-ups that day. There was the physical one of the bomb. And there was the mental one: I had lost a hang-up about being blown up.

Now, of course, "hang-up" is almost old hat in younger circles. It means anything from an obsession to a minor worry. You can be hung-up on the other sex, on drugs, on school work.

Another term that is enjoying quite a vogue these days is "rip-off". Basically it means stealing, but there are milder forms. It can also mean talking somebody out of something he doesn't want, not providing something you've promised and so on.

My daughter Kim was home from college last week. She was supposed to come home for the week-end, but there was no pleasant at home, and the food was so good, and she enjoyed being so much that she stayed the whole week.

I observed her maneuvers as she prepared to return, and thought I was seeing a real rip-off artist at work.

It went something like this, "Oh, Mom, is that ever a smart blouse! Could I try it on?" Momma, with resignation, "O.K., but you're not getting it. That's the only decent thing I have to wear." Kim, brightly, "Oh, I don't need it; I have these crumby old T-shirts that you hate so much. But it really fits me, doesn't it?"

And so on. I don't think I need to elaborate. She got the blouse, our teapot, my typewriter, various pots and pans, the only deodorant in the house and about 64 other items, too miscellaneous to list.

The Old Lady finally balked when Kim tried on a fur jacket and started swanking around in front of the mirror, cooing, "This really does something for me doesn't it, Mom?" Her mother stood her ground and said, in effect, you get your rotten hands off that jacket.

Well, as I said, I thought Kim was an artist at ripping off. I changed my mind when we took her to the city and saw the apartment she and another girl had rented in the fall. Kim is a rank amateur, a babe-in-the-woods, compared to city landlarks. The apartment is on the fringe of a slum area.

In September, she told us glowingly that the apartment was "really neat." It had a stove and fridge. There were three bedrooms, kitchen, dining room and living room and bathroom, all for $145 a month. It was unfurnished, of course. Sounded pretty good.

The "new" stove has an oven that does not work. The "new" fridge might fetch twelve dollars at a rummage sale and the handle is falling off.

The kitchen is like something out of Dickens. The bedrooms are boxes, only one with a window. There are no locks on the doors. The toilet doesn't work, except when it feels like it. Etc.

Rip-off! I'll never be a wealthy old school-teacher. But I'm certainly going to look in the prospects of becoming a wealthy old slum landlord.

In Memoriam

PLANTE — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Joseph, Eli Plante, who passed away December 12, 1961.

So many things have happened. Since you were called away, So many things to share with you, Had you been left to stay, So many times I needed you, So many times I cried, If love could have saved you, You never would have died. It broke my heart to lose you But you did not go alone. For part of me went with you, The day God called you home.

Lovingly remembered by his wife Mabel, sons, daughters and grandchildren.

ROUGHEAD — In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, William Roughead, who passed away December 23, 1965. A silent star, shines o'er the grave, Not very far from here.
